

ID Checks on sea travellers

Written by Tristram Llewellyn Jones

Thursday, 21 January 2016 17:51 - Last Updated Saturday, 13 February 2016 18:51

Should you be asked to provide on request, photographic verification of your identity at our sea ports?

Is lack of identity verification a weakness in the Island's law enforcement capabilities?

Whom exactly has raised concern that public and community safety is being compromised?

The DHA Consultation , which appeared out of the blue, has caused a great deal of public and media interest and PAG urges you to submit your views by the closing date of 12th February 2016.

Not unexpectedly, Island Civil Rights campaigner, Tristram Llewellyn Jones, has strong views about the principle and we publish his own response here.....